

TEVERETERNO

Twelve proposals for the Tiber by Kristin Jones

INFIAMMA

Materials: Fiaccole (Candles), Hardware
Dimensions: 43' L x 1239' L (13m H x 530m L)

In the tradition of the many grand scale Celebrations of Light around the world and throughout history, Infiamma will be a drawing created by hundreds of flames along the entire length of the right bank of the Piazza Tevere.

Mapping the serpentine contour of the Tiber River along its course from its source to the sea, the fiaccole will be suspended in a cascade of lights along the length of the travertine embankment wall. Burning throughout the course of the evening from dusk until dawn, the flames will multiply, reflecting onto the river and drawing the Tiber's silhouette on the dark water.

This fiery one night event is conceived as an annual ritual for the Winter Solstice – the darkest night of the year, or as part of a larger program to draw the public to the site.
