

NYC Rocks! Music Meetup Group

Wire (and much more) free on Friday at South Street Seaport

Message Board > Wire (and much more) free on Friday at South Street Seaport

Neil

Posted May 27, 2008 at 7:23 PM

NeilG10
New York, NY

What could be better than some time outdoors listening to great music? Perhaps an outdoor show listening to great rock followed by an Italian water, light and music show! Part of the opening weekend of the River-to-River Festival.

I'll be there. Who's interested in joining me?

See:

<http://www.rivertoriv...>

Here's the scoop on Wire:

Wire came to prominence in the late 70s during the cultural revolution of punk in the UK. Their art-school approach set them apart from brasher contemporaries, where they expanded the sonic boundaries of not just punk, but rock music in general. From R.E.M., the Cure and Guided by Voices to Minor Threat and Black Flag, from Blur and the birth of Britpop up until Franz Ferdinand and Bloc Party, Wire's influence has been one of the most significant in the past 30 years.

And on SHE WOLVES:

Enter into an immersive event whose fusion of water, sound and light will bring the mythic She-Wolf to life and transform outdoor river spaces with site-specific animations and music. In its US premiere, SHE WOLVES features works that originated on the Tiber River in Rome as part of the annual TEVERETERNO celebration of contemporary art and sound. Each evening's experience will awaken a different River To River Festival site with commissioned musical compositions and projected animations paired in breathtaking installations for the river. [This is the third of three nights/venues in the festival.]