I'm not so sure what's happening here but all the words sound real interesting... same info here. "Enter into three immersive events whose fusion of water, sound and light will bring the mythic She-Wolf to life and transform outdoor river spaces with site-specific animations and music. In its US premiere, She Wolves features works that originated on the Tiber River in Rome as part of the annual Tevereterno celebration of contemporary art and sound. Each evening's experience will awaken a different River to River Festival site with commissioned musical compositions and projected animations paired in breathtaking installations for the river.
